

Angeles Documentaries is an international festival that celebrates one of the most difficult genre to produce : documentaries.

Documentaries request high level quality writing, an exceptional production coordination, and a smart budget management.

Our competition goes from quarter finals to winners, all of the titles and directors to be listed on our website, every round of competition.

On its inaugural year, the festival was listed as the Short Docs High Def.

WHY THIS FESTIVAL ?

This festival is to be focused on this type of films. You will have specific recognition for the documentary you made, in a festival dedicated to documentaries.

Why is this so important ? Because sometimes, documentaries are just another category in some film festivals. We think documentaries deserve more attention, and we want to contribute giving it to them.

WHAT WILL BE OUR SELECTION ?

We will only select and screen short documentaries, not over 15 or 20 minutes maximum. If you made a full feature documentary, we will not be able to select it yet, but maybe in the years to come.

We are seeking for original documentaries, that can explore the world for us, bring some issues and analysis to the table, whether you shot it with a DSLR or a top 4K+ camera.

We accept all themes and language. If not english speaking we require english subtitles.

SCREENING

A selection of the winners will screen on 2018, May 4th, in Los Angeles. The award give away will take place at the same time, on the evening.

REWARDING EVENT

The festival event will gather many talents and will screen the best winning documentaries. The winners will be invited on stage to claim their Certificate award of quality they will take back home.

The program will include a public presentation and/or QnA of each documentary by their team representatives. If you do not attend the event, the management may decide not to screen your film. You will remain in competition.

You will be invited to a networking during the festival, to help you connect with other nominees, attendees, producers, directors.
